

THE MERAKI EDIT

PRESENTS

The Diwali Edit

For the light you plan to keep.

A curated edit for the festival that deserves more than a hamper.

Objects to send. Warmth to keep. A Diwali worth remembering.

A small gifting studio composing artisan pieces for the moments that matter — for family, for the home, for the people you don't want to give ordinarily. Begin with the person; we'll compose the rest.

We curate. We don't just offer hampers.

Every gifting brand says “personalised.” We do one thing differently – we don't hand you a menu and let you pick off a shelf. We ask about the person: what they've been through this year, what they'd notice, what they would never buy for themselves.

Then we compose – an object, a note, a small detail – the way we would if we were sending it ourselves.

A hamper, for most gifting brands, is where the job ends. For us, it's where the composing begins.

“Every gift we send, we treat as if we were sending it ourselves.”

Because of that, our own quality check is a simple one: if we would not send it to our own family, we do not send it to yours.

Ujjwal — the light & home edit

Objects that outlast the string lights and stay lit,
quietly, long after the festival has ended.

The Wood & Brass
Table Lamp

A quiet piece – small, precise,
made to be handed down.

Pichwai — Table Lamp

A wooden table lamp with a hand-illustrated Pichwai print
shade — Krishna and the gopis
in soft colour.

The Brushed-Brass
Candle Duo

A pair of hand-finished brass stands, cradling slow-burning pillar candles.

The Glass-Domed
Serving Tray

A hand-blown glass dome over a wooden base — for the mithai and fruit that

The Hand-Beaded
Coaster Set

Hand-beaded in more colour
than you'd expect from a coaster .

The Quatrefoil Mirror

Gold-leafed and shaped like an old zenana window — small enough for a console, striking enough for an entryway.

Kalash — the hand-finished vase

Hand-finished metal, available in round, fluted, and engraved forms, with every piece carrying its own distinctive character.

Vaibhav — the ritual & serveware

The pieces that carry a house's abundance — for the mandir corner, the sideboard, and the table set for guests.

The Hand-Cast Temple Bell

Cast by hand and hung on its own chain — the sound that opens an aarti.

Vriksha -The Two-Tier Brass Étagère

A sculptural brass stand, finished with a floral motif for mithai on one level and marigolds on the other.

Jyoti - The Brass Taper Candlestick Pair

Slim, hand-finished brass stands for a slower kind of light than a diya.

The Silver-Leaf Bowl Duo

A pair of leaf-edged bowls in a soft silver finish, raised on their own little pedestals — for the nuts and namkeen that greet every guest first.

The Brass Censer & Ittar Duo

Hand-cast brass, pierced by hand so the smoke can escape for the dhoop and ittar that opens a Diwali evening.

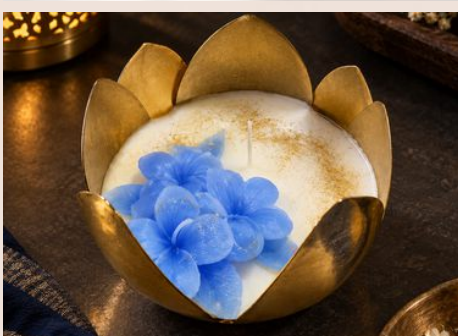

Shubh Labh Wall Hanging Set

A timeless décor piece symbolising prosperity, positivity, and good fortune, crafted with intricate traditional detailing.

Sneh & Sukoon

A candle poured into a wooden /metal/glass bowl for quieter, softer moments.

Wrapped in warmth

Fine wool stoles & scarves – hand-loomed, softly patterned, restrained. Meant to be worn now and remembered forever.

Size = 70 cm
x 200 cm

Thaal – the table & ritual edit

Objects that have belonged in Indian homes long before Diwali needed reinventing – for the meal, and the mithai.

Available in Brass, Kansa, Stainless Steel

The Thali Set

A timeless brass ensemble featuring a classic thali, bowls and tumbler, crafted for everyday dining with traditional charm. A full setting for one, for a meal that feels like an occasion

The Pot & Bowl Duo

A hand-finished copper matka paired with its own bowl – for the water believed to carry blessings, and the pooja thali it sits beside.

The Hand-Hammered Kettle

Every dent struck by hand is believed to purify what it holds, and this kettle has been holding the day's first cup for a while now.

The Ghee Pot & Spoon

Hand-engraved, with its own small ladle for the ghee that lights the diyas and enriches the mithai.

Available in Brass, Kansa, Stainless Steel

The Etched Tumbler Set

Featuring delicate etched detailing, these tumblers add a touch of traditional elegance. A refined choice for everyday dining and special occasions.

Ghee Pot with Spoon

Crafted for everyday rituals, this classic ghee pot comes with a matching spoon. A thoughtful addition to the kitchen, where tradition meets functionality.

Embossed Canister with Tray

Hand-finished with intricate detailing, these canisters bring timeless charm to everyday storage. Paired with a matching tray, a beautiful blend of tradition and utility.

Silver-Finished Fruit Bowl

Elegant detailing meets timeless craftsmanship in this statement fruit bowl. A graceful addition to dining spaces, perfect for serving and celebrating.

Available in Brass, Kansa, Stainless Steel

The Masala Thali

Crafted for everyday dining, this traditional masala thali brings timeless charm to the table. A thoughtful blend of function, craftsmanship and Indian tradition

The Embossed Bowl

Detailed with intricate embossed patterns, this elegant bowl celebrates traditional craftsmanship. A versatile piece for serving, styling or adding charm to festive tables.

Ghee Pot Set of Three with Tray

A set of three beautifully crafted ghee pots arranged on a matching tray. Perfect for adding a touch of tradition and elegance to everyday kitchen rituals.

Dessert Bowl with Spoon

A charming bowl paired with a matching spoon, made for serving sweet moments. A graceful addition to festive celebrations, desserts and everyday indulgence.

Thaal – the table & ritual edit

Objects that have belonged in Indian homes long before Diwali needed reinventing – for the meal, and the mithai.

Available in Stainless Steel

The Gold-Finished Handi Set

PVD Coated Stainless Steel, finished to look like brass and built to live like steel – a set of three lidded handis for the table.

Accord Handi Set

A timeless serveware set featuring elegant hammered detailing and classic domed lids. Perfect for adding a touch of traditional charm to any table setting.

Melody Handi with Glass Lid

Elegant handcrafted handi with a sleek glass lid, blending traditional charm with modern functionality.

The Gold-Finished Serving Set

This elegant set pairs two handled bowls with a detailed serving tray and spoon. A timeless touch of tradition for festive dining and gifting.

Charu - the carry edit

For the people you're gifting beyond the home — corporate teams, clients, and the ones who live out of a bag.

Policies – The practical, tender details.

RETURNS & QUALITY

Hand-finished gifts, narrow returns.

Because our gifts are hand-finished and often customised, our returns policy is intentionally narrow. We accept returns only if a gift arrives damaged in transit, or if there is a manufacturing quality issue on a non-customised piece. Write to us within 48 hours of delivery with photographs – we will replace the affected piece or issue a full refund, whichever you prefer.

CANCELLATION POLICY

Honest, because our work begins the moment you confirm.

Cancellations before order confirmation are refunded in full. After confirmation, cancellations are refunded at 50% – the remaining 50% covers sourcing, customisation and studio time already underway. Cancellations within 72 hours of dispatch are not possible. The retained amount can be used as studio credit toward any future gift within 12 months.

PAYMENTS

Shared with your proposal, kept simple.

Payment details are shared along with your considered quote. We accept bank transfer (NEFT/IMPS/UPI), credit and debit cards, and corporate purchase orders. Larger and corporate orders can be split 50% on confirmation and 50% before dispatch. GST-compliant invoices are issued for all corporate orders.

THE MERAKI EDIT

*A gift, composed well, says
more than any card can.*

May this Diwali bring you the kind of light that stays.
